

SOLOMON ISLANDS CLIMATE ACTION NETWORK

INDIVIDUAL MEMBERSHIP FORM

Thank you very much for your interest in becoming a member of Solomon Islands Climate Action Network! Passionate Professionals and Individual in Climate Change, Disaster Risk Management, Environment, Waste Management and any other field or works of life can sign up to become a member of the Solomon Islands Climate Action Network.

The Solomon Islands Climate Action Network (SICAN) is a network of member organizations (INGO, CSO, FBO, Private Sector) and individual champions who are passionate about climate change issues, and have come together with common interest and like-minded agenda to amplify the voice of the marginalized Solomon Islanders on the issues of climate change at the national level, across the region and at the international space.

In ensuring we know you better, we ask that you fill in this form and use it to tell us about yourself. The questionnaire is designed to provide information on all the membership criteria SICAN takes into consideration.

1. SICAN mission statement

To advocate and empower SICAN members to promote and influence climate change issues through; partnership, research, information sharing, networking with government and private sectors, INGOs, LNGO and communities at all levels. SICAN also aims to ensure that an inclusive approach is taken in building resilience in Solomon Islands.

2. Objectives of SICAN

- to collaborate as a civil society organisation with a unified voice to influence climate policies;
- to learn good practice and share amongst the network to increase capacity in adaptation and mitigation of climate change;
- to strengthen linkages and networks with other national, regional and international bodies and organisations to influence polices and access technical assistance and support;
- to provide a forum for advocacy and influence on climate change issues on behalf of its members and affiliates;
- to influence accessibility to climate financing on behalf of its affiliates and constituents;
- to represent members and affiliates in national, regional and international climate change negotiations and conferences;
- to influence social inclusion of women, youth, persons with disabilities, older adults and other marginalised groups in climate change activities in Solomon Islands; and
- to act as a conduit between government, donors and private sector to support civil society voices on climate policy development and its implementation.

3. Expectations of members

Members of SICAN are expected to contribute actively to activities which SICAN is involved in, including:

- Training courses and workshops being facilitated by SICAN, its members, or other key organisations in relation to climate change.
- Climate action, advocacy or awareness raising events being run by SICAN or its members.
- Funding applications or funding, for projects, tenders or contracts relating to climate change or related themes.
- Contributing to or collaborating in the work involved in executing any contracts or projects secured by SICAN and/or its members.

There is an expectation that members attend monthly meetings, unless a member is unable to due to an irresolvable conflict with another appointment. If a member is unable to attend a meeting, that member will provide their apologies to the Coordinator of SICAN prior to the commencement of the meeting.

These requirements are an important part of ensuring SICAN is a vibrant, collaborative network. SICAN reserves the right to screen potential members who do not indicate a willingness to engage and support other members in organising activities and events.
